SOME SPLENDID CROPS DELIVERED ON FRIDAY

Stragglers Are Signing Pool Contracts Officials of Association Announce.

Friday's delivery at the local pooled warehouses was marked by three immense crops of splendid grade. Mr. Mike Walton unloaded 11,640 pounds of the weed that averaged $10.64. Certainly a price that speaks for itself. Mr. Pat Comer hauled in almost as much that averaged $10.68 and tipped the scales at 10,190 pounds. The third delivery was raised by Mr. August Rubenacher on Mrs. Sallie D. Slack's farm. This crop lot of 7670 pounds went as high as $11.53. When tobacco has a borrowing value as high as the above the future of the Kentucky grower is assured. Always, of course, dependent on the excellence of the product produced. If the above are not so then good tobacco was never grown.

Mr. Kehoe reported two additional contracts signed within the last twenty-four hours and several inquiries as to the possibilities. He states that bona fide crops will still be received but no part deliveries can be signed.

GREATEST OF ALL FEATURES TO BE SEEN AT PASTIME

"Over the Hill," Wonderful Picturization of Famous Old Ballad to Open Week's Engagement at Pastime Monday.

"Over the Hill," the William Fox picturization of Will Carleton's "Farm Ballads," which has broken the best record of any screen attraction that ever visited Broadway, playing there one solid year in six different theaters, will be seen at Pastime one full week beginning Monday.

The story of "Over the Hill" was adapted from Carleton's poems by Paul H. Sloans, who is said to have written a screen story that defies criticism in this form of entertainment. The story has to do with the adventures of a typical American family, the mother of which is called upon to bear the brunt of all the shortcomings of her little flock. The principal characters, aside from the mother, are a lazy father and six lively kids—one of whom is destined to figure as the black sheep. As the story unfolds, the youngsters are seen growing to manhood and womanhood, and eventually leaving the homestead to set out into the world for themselves.

The story is worked up to one of the most beautiful climaxes ever devised and one that is said to stir the emotions of men and women as they never before have been stirred by a stage presentation. There is also abundant comedy in the picture, and the production can well be said to meet the entertainment needs of every member of the family, young and old.

The people of Maysville and community have been patiently awaiting the coming of this great picture to Maysville. Thousands have seen it throughout this section and everyone who has seen the great picture says it is the greatest yet. It is expected that the Pastime will be crowded every day next week.

JUDGE COCHRAN ASKS BRIEFS IN SUIT FOR $24,000 JUDGMENT.

Federal District Judge A. M. J. Cochran has taken under consideration the suit filed by Henry A. Antrim and others against R. F. Fields in which he seeks a judgment for $24,000. Antrim in his petition declares he paid this amount for a tract of land he purchased from Fields and for which he was given a title. The title, according to the petition, was not clear and Fields at the time he gave it was unable to give a clear title though he represented it as such. Antrim paid $24,000 for the property and now seeks to recover this amount with interest. Judge Cochran instructed the attorneys in the case to file briefs and took the case under advisement. He will announce his decision shortly.

OHIO BONUS WILL AVERAGE $139.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 11. — It will be necessary for the state to issue the entire $25,000,000 of adjusted compensation bonds, and it is possible a further issue may be required to pay the bonus to all of Ohio's war veterans.

Robert R. Roberts, compensation director, made this assertion today after listing of the first 8,000 warrants signed and ready to sent out showed they average $139 each. It is estimated 240,000 veterans or their heirs-at-law are entitled to compensation. On this basis the amount needed would exceed $33,000,000.

WOULD REDUCE COTTON PRODUCTION.

Columbia, S. C. Feb. 11.—The South Carolina Senate adopted resolution calling upon the state's delegation in Congress to endeavor to obtain legislation prohibiting the planting of cotton in the United States every other year for a period of four years, beginning in 1923.

UNIONS CONFERENCE.

Indianapolis, Feb. 11. — Railroad unions have accepted the invitation of the United Mineworkers for a conference to perfect an alliance between the two organizations, John L. Lewis, president of the miners, said today. He announced the meeting will be held February 21 in Chicago. All except one of the 16 major railroad unions have accepted the invitation, Lewis said.

CONFUSION ON LICENSES.

The city has two licenses on peddlers, one charging a fee of $2 per day and another charging a fee of $25 per day. A peddler offering razors for sale on Market street Saturday afternoon was asked to show his license and it was a two dollar a day license, which was not signed by the Mayor. He was stopped by the officers and left the city for another town.

TROOPS RAID NEWPORT SALOONS ON FRIDAY

Liquor, Stills and Equipment Captured in Raid of State Troops—County Judge Arrested in Saloon.

Newport, Ky., Feb. 10. —While Newport saloonkeepers tonight were still dazed from the shock, National Guard officers and Federal prohibition agents were checking up the results of the simultaneous raids this afternoon on more than a score of saloons.

The results were summed up about like this:

Twenty saloons raided. Twenty persons arrested.

Many shotguns, rifles, and revolvers confiscated.

Four hundred rounds of ammunition seized.

Truck and automobile loaded with liquor captured.

Ten stills uncovered.

Many gambling and slot machines captured.

In addition, County Judge William C. Buten was taken into custody at one of the cafes and cited to appear before the United States Commissioner.

The "clean-up" was one of the most sweeping in the United States since prohibition.

The raids were planned by Col. H. H. Denhardt, commanding the troops at the Newport Rolling Mills, where a strike is in progress. Much of the lawlessness was plotted in these saloons, according to the troop commander.

ARREST IS MADE IN SENSATIONAL FILMLAND MURDER

Young Man Arrested By Officials in Connection With the Murder of Director Taylor at Hollywood.

Los Angeles, Feb. 11. — Whether an arrest made by two police detectives here last night will prove to be the first in connection with the Taylor murder was to be determined by investigation today.

Walter Thiele, 25, who said he was born in Oakland and had been in Los Angeles for a year, was taken into custody on charges of carrying a concealed weapon and on suspicion of burglary.

During the examination of Mabel Normand by District Attorney Woolwine, four police detectives took into the conference a cap, reported to have been worn by Thiele at the time of his arrest, indicating a possible connection with the Taylor case.

The district attorney was engaged from 8 o'clock last night until nearly midnight in questioning Miss Normand, who, according to Mr. Woolwine, was unable to add anything to the police data concerning Edward F. Sands, missing former butler-secretary to Taylor, but apparently confirmed the district attorney's belief in the importance of locating him, for he later said:

"Sands is the man we must find."

USE CITY AS HIDE-OUT

The beginning of grand jury investigation of the Newport disorders gives promise of some action that will clear up the situation there. At least the Cincinnati Times-Star has hopes. It says editorially:

"There is a ring to Judge A. M. Caldwell's charge to the Campbell county, Kentucky, grand jury which promises a real beginning to a crime clean-up in Darkest Newport. Judge Caldwell charged the grand jury to 'investigate without fear or favor the brazen defiance of the laws of the commonwealth.' He added the warning that 'no violator of the law be permitted to escape indictment.'"

"It is a dirty and disgraceful mess into which the grand jury will thrust its probe. But the duty before the jury is plain and not to be evaded. Conditions in Newport have reached a point which no longer may continue unless there is to be a supine surrender to corruption, violence, intimidation and official weakness and ineffectiveness. Nothing can prevent this surrender except a quick and fearless clean-up of the whole community and a reinstatement of law and order. Conditions in Newport were unbearable long before the present outbreak of violence, and the latter, as a matter of fact, is only a natural consequence of permitting gunmen and gamblers and other law violators the freedom of the city."

"It is comforting to note that Judge Caldwell has taken cognizance of the complaint from Cincinnati that most of the desperate crimes committed on this side of the river are the work of criminals from Newport who use that city as a hide-out, and who seem to enjoy immunity from arrest on the other side of the Ohio."

"The Campbell county grand jury has been given not only a great responsibility but a great opportunity. It will have back of it a judge who has made an excellent beginning, while back of him stands a thoroughly aroused governor. And back of both of these is, of course, a mass of public opinion which is stronger than may appear on the surface in terrorized Newport."

ACCIDENTS

It increases one's disposition to "watch his step" to read an analysis of public accidents in 1920 made public in a pamphlet of the national safety council. In its introduction the safety council bulletin says:

"The relatively great importance of public accidents as a factor in accidental mortality has been signally demonstrated by statistics from several sources. An analysis of fatalities through accident in the United States for a single week ending August 28, 1920, shows that of 1,208 accidental deaths, no fewer than 758, or 62.7 per cent., were caused by public accidents; 359, or 29.7 per cent., were the result of industrial accidents; and the remaining 91, or 7.6 per cent., were the result of home accidents. (These data were gathered by the national safety council with the co-operation of 200 city and county coroners, the secretaries of 35 local safety councils, and 8,000 representatives of the national safety council's member companies.) Second: Out of 20,045 accident claims paid by the Travelers Insurance Company during the year 1920, only 3,126, or 15.6 per cent., were classified as home accidents; 7,572, or 37.8 per cent., were included in the occupational group; and the remainder, 9,347, or 46.6 per cent., were public accidents of one kind or another. A summary of 91,896 claims paid over the five-year period 1916-1920 shows about the same percentage distribution. Third: A consideration of the causes of accidental deaths for 1919 shows that the leading causes were falls, automobiles, burns, railroads and drowning. Of these, burns result largely from home accidents; falls are probably more equally divided among public, home and industrial accidents; but the three remaining causes—automobiles, railroads and drowning—are almost entirely public accidents. These facts are sufficient evidence of the enormous amount of intensive safety work that is still to be done in the field of public accidents."

"There were approximately 75,500 fatal accidents in the continental United States during 1919, of which number 55,000 were males and 20,000 females. This estimate is made from the United States census bureau's statistics for the registration area, which comprises over 80 per cent. of the population of the entire country."

THE GOVERNMENT HAS NO MAGIC

Some people look on government as a sort of magic. It has only to wave its wand, and presto! the genie is summoned from the bottle and things begin to happen. The ordinary person has to work and save to get ahead. The government is free from all these crude limitations. All it needs to do is to say: "Let there be money," and there is money.

These ideas seem to be in Mr. Ford's mind when he talks about the government being able to issue money against a great development project and so to finance it without paying interest. If you or I should undertake to build a power plant and were without the necessary funds, we should have to borrow and pay somebody for the use of the money. But Mr. Ford thinks the government, somehow, is different.

How is it different? The government is made up of you and me and the rest of us associated in various activities. Its only resources are the funds it gets when it writes us to please remit. In Russia and central Europe when people didn't remit, it tried to trade on this widespread impression of government magic, and printed money. Bales of it, millions, and billions and trillions of dollars' worth. Pretty soon people saw the magic was a fraud and now the money isn't worth anything.

No, the only way you or I can get money for development work is by borrowing from somebody who has saved it, and paying him for the use of it. The only way you and I and Smith and Jones, associated in a common enterprise called the United States government, can get money for the Muscle Shoals plant, is to borrow it and pay for its use.—Kansas City Times.

Bunny Grauer, who carried the burden of work in a special Harry Millard recently completed at the Fox New York studio, has been engaged for a role in the new production "Millard" started last week. Adolph Milar and Myrtle Stewart also have roles. Either Charles Richman or Montague Love will play the lead.

On his way back to California, Charles Jones, William Fox western star, stopped off in Chicago, and gave the kids of the Home for Destitute Crippled Children a treat by visiting and shaking hands all around. While he was there a Jones picture was put on in the youngsters' own little theater.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C. — In connection with its numerous investigations of American industries, established and prospective, the U. S. Tariff Commission notes that very few violins were made in the United States before the war on what might be termed a commercial scale. There are about three concerns in this country, each of which produces three thousand or more violins annually. To the average purchaser the fact that a violin is made in a foreign country adds greatly to its value. The claim of age for many foreign-made instruments gives them a decided advantage over domestic makes. This prejudice is being overcome as a result of a greater use of American-made violins during the war, when the supply from Europe was cut off. Japan, in the last few years has been exporting violins to the United States.

There are a great many alleged Cremonas and Stradivaris imported from Europe which are of distinctly recent manufacture. In fact, the old master-makers would have needed a life-span greater than accorded Methuselah to make all the violins attributed to them. As for the value of age in giving proper tone, that seems to have been proved a myth by recent tests held in a European capital in which a brand new violin carried off the honors.

The fact that violins are now being manufactured in this country evidently induced the Ways and Means Committee of Congress to add a special clause to the paragraph on musical instruments in which violins had not heretofore been specifically mentioned. The clause reads: "Violins, violas, violoncellos, and double basses, of all sizes, wholly or partly manufactured or assembled, $1.50 each and 35 per centum ad valorem; unassembled parts of the foregoing: 35 per centum ad valorem." So the tariff has been tuned to the American fiddle which can render equally well "Turkey in the Straw," or "Hummer Skew."

The Railroad Labor Board estimates that the reduction of wages ordered last July, plus the recent wage savings due to revision of certain working rules, make a total of $466,000,000 saved to the roads last year. The trouble with the estimate is that it is based on payrolls for 1920. The Board estimates the annual saving by applying the percentage of cut to the total expenditures for wages in 1920. As a matter of fact, the reduction in traffic in the early part of 1921 had compelled the roads to lay off thousands of workers, and when the relief in the shape of reduced wage scales was forthcoming, its net effect was far less than the figures of the Labor Board would indicate.

Of course every attempt to establish a merchant marine subsidy in this country will meet with the opposition of foreign maritime governments. Such opposition is already being recorded against many features of the tentative subsidy plan prepared by Chairman Lasker of the Shipping Board. One of Mr. Lasker's ideas is to provide that at least 50 per cent. of all immigrants to the United States shall come in American ships. One nation has registered a protest on the ground that the suggestion con-

ACT QUICKLY

In time of kidney danger, Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective. Ask your neighbor.

Plenty of Maysville evidence of their worth. Fred Dresel, proprietor tailor shop, 1238 East Second street, Maysville, says: "I am glad of the opportunity to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled with inflammation of the bladder and annoyance from my kidneys. When passing the secretions they burned terribly and often bordered on a stoppage. I had severe aching pains across the small of my back which greatly interfered with my duties. I was telling a friend how my kidneys acted and he advised me to get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Wood & Son's Drug Store. I began taking Doan's and they gave me prompt relief. Doan's did me lots of good and I know they are an excellent remedy."

Mr. Dresel gave the above statement February 6, 1908, and on November 22, 1920, he added: "I think just as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills today as I did when I gave my former recommendation many years ago. My cure has been a lasting one." Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Dresel had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

OH BOY! A WHISKEY WELL.

Some people are born lucky and others merely live in Knoxville, Tenn. The prohibition enforcement officers in their search around that city found a "well" of whisky in a residential section. The "well" was a copper container, which held three hundred to four hundred gallons of whisky, and was buried ten feet under ground. A pump brought it to the surface and the owner of the "well" supplied his customers at all hours for as large a quantity of moonshine as they wished. The outfit was confiscated and many would-be purchasers of whisky were forced to explain the object of their visit to the premises, before the news of the confiscation became public property.

New York Letter

New York. — It begins to look as though the day of the toy dog was dimming if not fading. Not in many years has there been such a scarcity of Pekinese at the Dog Show as this winter. The little "Peeks" have usually held the spotlight of the show in recent seasons and have been of every possible variety, so far as there can be any variation in that particular kind of pet. What do you suppose has taken their place? Or at last, if not quite that, has at least shown an increase in importance comparable to the falling off of that of the "Peeks"? What but our old and magnificent friends, the greyhounds. For past seasons, these long, lithe, distinguished dogs have been almost lost sight of at exhibitions throughout the country, especially, perhaps, in the big show in New York. This year they came back with a rush, and somehow it was a welcome change to a good many of us to whom the toy dog never did quite mean all that a dog should.

—NY—
A model village run on Puritan lines is planned on Long Island by members of the new motion picture association which is to be organized under Will H. Hays, it is said, to aid in removing from the public mind the tales of wild life led by some moving picture actors elsewhere. That will be a pretty nice thing, of course, for the actors and the industry and the public mind. But it may be something of a temptation for the poor collected actors to refrain from coming across to Manhattan once in a while and joining in the un-model life led by the sedate population of non-actors here.

—NY—
The frightful number of deaths in New York City since the holidays from wood alcohol certainly adds force to one of Will Rogers stage remarks. I don't suppose one ought to jest about such a serious matter as the killing off of so many people; but it really was more than a jest when that comedian said: "Well, I'll tell you one thing. You certainly don't see so much drunkenness since prohibition was adopted. No, sir, with the stuff you drink nowadays you're either sober or dead."

—NY—
In spite of the many truly good—and one or two really great—plays which have been produced this season, it seems very possible that the big hit of the dramatic year, as well as the one best play has just opened. That is "The Czarina" in which the wonderful Doris Keane plays the role of the much-written-of Great Catherine of Russia. Miss Keane has so impressed herself upon us all in "Romance" that we are too quick to think of her as being that one heroine. We ought to have known better. Any one who could do that so perfectly could essentially be sufficiently great as an actress to do other and quite different roles with the flare of genius. "The Czarina," has given us proof plenty of our stupidity in falling into the error. As "Catherine" Doris Keane is so keen, so alluring, so amusing, so flaunting that it is difficult not to grow inarticulate in one's enthusiasm. And the best of it is, that all this does not at all mean that the play is dependent upon Doris Keane for its appeal. The play itself is surpassingly good, with all of the intrinsic and atmosphere we think of in connection with the court of Catherine and with a modern handling of humorous emphasis. There has probably been no more appreciative first night audience in New York this season than the one that witnessed it opening at the Empire Theater the other night.

It does not sound like such very hard times when we read that a silk concern alone has taken a building on Fifth avenue for which it will pay $3,000,000 for 21 years.

People have varying ideas of training and discipline, of course, and the views on education have been changing rapidly these past few years. But John J. Theodore, a New York suburbanite, insists that Mrs. Theodore is mistaken in her system. He insists, in fact, to the point of asking a separation. It seems that she was given to punching him—and once she used a can-opener for the puncher. The husband isn't objecting so much to that as he is to her repetition that she did it "tom make a man of him."

Covington — Elza C. Hall, former Kenton county, Ky., deputy sheriff and county patrolman, was cited today on a bench warrant issued by the Owen county, Ky., court, charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses. Hall furnished bond for $1,000. "I do not care to discuss the case at this time," said Hall.

CONDITION IN IRELAND SERIOUS.
Belfast, Feb. 11. — With Ulster volunteers and Irish Republican pickets facing each other across the border, another battle on the Tyrone frontier was threatened today.

Fighting broke out last night, but was quelled with two casualties.

The situation has become so serious the meeting of the Dail Eireann, scheduled for Tuesday, was postponed until February 28.

The provisional government was expected to take drastic measures today to end the rule of strikers who seized the railroad station at Cork, cutting off from food and communication all towns along 200 miles of track.

Eighty-Eight Per Cent. of State's Population Was Born Within Its Confiner—Great Per Cent White.

Washington, Feb. 11. — More than 88 per cent. of the 1920 population of Lexington was born within its state, according to a bulletin of the United States Census Bureau issued Friday. This bulletin showed that out of a total population in 1920 of 2,416,630 persons, 2,134,989 were born in the state and 30,906 were foreign born.

Next to Kentucky, Tennessee furnished the largest number of Kentuckians, with 71,535, or 3 per cent. of the total. There were 40,225 Kentuckians who were born in Ohio; 31,918 born in Indiana; 20,444 born in Virginia; 11,975 born in Illinois and 10,453 born in West Virginia. THOUSANDS SEEK TO WITNESS THE CROWNING OF POPE

Over Forty Thousand Persons Will Witness the Coronation of Pope Pius XI at Rome—Few Americans in Audience.

Rome, Feb. 11. — Forty thousand tickets have already been distributed for the Papal coronation ceremonies. The flood of demands continues and Monsignor Sans de Samper, the Papal Chamberlain, unable to meet all requests for admission, has assigned a certain number of tickets to each Roman parish. A very large number of Americans have applied to the American College for tickets, but only a few have been allotted to that quarter, and no assurance is offered that additional tickets can be secured. Cardinal O'Connell of Boston has promised to do his best so that Americans will be able to get a glimpse of the proceedings.

Two American Catholic students who waited in a long line at the majordomo's office for ninety minutes today were forced to return empty-handed, because when their turn came the hour of noon had struck and the offices were closed.

Pope Pius today received his brother Francesco, who is a civil engineer, and his brother's daughter, a pretty, slim, fair-haired girl. He conversed with them for considerable time about his native town and his relatives, about thirty of whom have arrived in Rome. He said he would see them all as soon as the grave occupations of the first days will permit to impart the apostolic benediction to them.

Mary Carr was working on some scenes in a new special in which she is featured, at the New York studio of William Fox, when Jack Ford, who directs Shirley Mason, walked on the set. He gave the man directing the picture several suggestions and made his self so generally useful that it

THOMPSON'S TAX BILL PASSES STATE HOUSE

Means Changing of Classification of Property and Lowering of Farm Lands.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 11. — Speaker James H. Thompson's bill changing the classification of property for taxation purposes, removing exemptions, and lowering the rate on farm lands, while increasing that on intangibles, passed the house of representatives, after an all-day debate, late Friday afternoon, by a vote of 59 to 28.

Numerous amendments were voted down, the principal one adopted being by G. Lucien Drury, of Union county, permitting an appeal to the circuit courts from the findings of the state tax commission.

The bill was reported by the committee on revenue and taxation, on February 1, and bears the name of chairman W. G. Wheeler, of Warren county, but it is well-known to be the production of Mr. Thompson, who was assisted in its preparation by the committee.

The speaker took the floor when the special order was called at 11 o'clock Friday morning, Claude Minor, ranking member of the rules committee, assuming the chair. Mr. Thompson explained the bill at considerable length.

caused Mrs. Carr to remark: "It looks as though this would turn into a Ford-Carr production."
